Presidents Johnson and Spalding to Settle Base Ball Problem.

A NEW CLUB FOR NEW YORK CITY

Secretary Gear Issues Warning to the Ball Players.

SPORTS IN GENERAL

Whatever the result of the court proceedings tomorrow in the base ball war may he there is a good chance that more interesting base ball history will be made in New York this week. Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and the foremost figure in base ball, is expected in New York tomorrow or Friday. Johnson is a man of quick action, and there may be a new circuit formed in quick order if Freedman beats Spalding in court tomorrow.

It became known yesterday that a new club has already been organized in New York, ready to do business at once. The organization was completed last Sunday, presumably just before Spalding made the public announcement that Freedman would be out of base ball in the near future. It is claimed that the new club has an option on a convenient plot of ground suitable for base ball playing.

"In reference to certain statements that have been made that I do not hold a controlling interest in the New York Base Ball Club, I want to say right now," said Andrew Freedman in New York yesterday, "that 65 per cent of the stock is held by me personally. It is so recorded on the books of the club, and not a dollar of the stock is owned by Mr. Spalding or has been ac-quired by him, as I hear the statement has been made.

"Mr. Spalding will not be president of the National League, and of that fact I am certain. His election was not legal, and the four clubs that absented themselves from the meeting on Saturday morning are positive that their contentions will be borne out when the proper time comes.

"I see that I am declared out of the National League," he continued. "Some seem to think such is the case, but I do not. There is quite a difference of opinion on that point."

A. G. Spalding, in an interview, admitted that a bundle of papers, which he pre-sumed to be legal documents, had been served upon him after the convention Monday afternoon. "I am told by my attorney," said he, "that they contained an order restraining me from signing my order restraining the from signing my name as president, secretary and treasurer of the National League or conducting any business for it. Therefore I am not exercising any function whatever of the office of president of the organization pending the decision of the court."

WARNING THE PLAYERS.

Secretary Dale Gear Says Salaries Will Slump in Near Future. Secretary Dale Gear of the Players' Protective Association and Charles ("Kid") Nichols held a long conference yesterday in Kansas City. At its conclusion Secretary Gear announced that he would carry his intention of issuing a circular letter to the members of the Players' Protective Association into immediate execution. He will begin work on the statement at once.

better position to cope with the changes in base ball which are certain to materialize within the next few months.

and it will be sent out within the next

With A. G. Spalding at the head of the National League peace between the major league organizations is, he is confident, in sight. It is known that both Johnson and Spaiding favor a compromise before the next playing season begins. With such conditions a cut in salaries is thought to be certain, and unless the players stand firm in a solid body they may not be able to protect their interests. All these points and the recent developments will be touched upon, including Brush's proposed

'We don't wish to bulldoze," says Gear; "but as Spalding is anxious to fully recog-nize the association, we should make a strong appearance. Many players have let their dues lapse. I shall urge all to pay up and will ask for suggestions as to how we should proceed in the light of recent devel-

Base Ball Notes.

Ned Hanlon has signed a young leftanded pitcher named Lafayette S. Winham. He is a Quaker city boy, and had some experience in the Virginia-North Carolina League.

Third Baseman Robinson has signed a contract with the American League team of Philadelphia for next season. Robinson played at third last season for Kansas City. which won the Western League pennant, and was the fastest man in the league in running bases. He is a fine fielder and an opportune batter. Tebeau may make trouble for Third Baseman Robinson if it true that he has signed with "Connie lack." The Kansas City magnate has a ersonal contract with Robinson. Flournoy, the star outfielder of last season's Providence team of the Eastern League, has accepted terms from the Brooklyn National League club. Kansas City made Flournoy a flattering offer, but he preferred to join Hanlon's forces. It is about time that base ball writers looked upon George Davis' desertion to the American League as a certainty. He has not only signed with Charles Comiskey, but has accepted advance money. Davis' contract is for two years, and the coin con-sideration is reported to be close on to $9,000, besides a bonus for making the

Though Mr. B. B. Johnson has told pretty early everybody else in the land but leorge Munson that he has been appointed o the secretaryship of the new St. Louis lub, he has yet to inform the well-known porting man himself that such is the case. Jeorge has been entrusted with the keys of Athletic Park, and is performing sundry things toward the organization of the local club, securing an office, "jollying" the press, etc., but whether he is secretary or not he doesn't know.—St. Louis Globe-

Democrat. Bob Lowe, the veteran second baseman, will next wear a Boston uniform next year, and Manager Frank Selee of Chicago has signed Lowe to play in the windy city, while Lowe's position in Boston will be filled by Greminger, the promising youngster whom Manager Buckenberger gave a thor-ough trying-out at this base on his Roches-It is understood that Lowe has a long contract and that his salary will be in excess of what the Boston National League management has been paying.

Manager Shettslipe of the Phillies may give Jim Stafford a chance at second base or shortstop next year. Stafford was the general utility player of the New York club for about six or seven years, and when John M. Ward retired from base ball he succeeded him at second base. After the reduction of the National League circult from twelve to eight clubs Stafford was one of sixty or more players who were relegated to minor league company because there was not room for all in the big league. Since then Stafford, according to the averages, has been playing very good ball, both at bat and in the field, and having been very highly recommended to the Phillies.

Francis Richter, editor of Sporting Life,

Francis Richter, editor of Sporting Life, says: Class "A" minor league clubs should go slow on the player-manager idea. This is well enough in little leagues, where rigid economy is absolutely essential even at the cost of results and discipline. But in larger leagues the disadvantage of a player-manager outweigh the comparatively small saving. It's a mighty poor bench manager who can't save his salary to his club in many ways; conversely, the player-manager who can do justice to himself, his employers and his fellow players, at no extra cost to his club, is a rare bird.

Hanrahan Knocked Out Hart. "Wild Bill" Hanrahan of New York defeated Marvin Hart in less than one round at the Auditorium, Louisville, Ky., last night. The knockout blow came after about one minute and a half of fighting, and was a hard left to the stomach, followed by a right hook to the jaw.

The men were scheduled to fight a twenty-five-round contest at catch weights, Marquis of Queensberry rules, and from the time they stepped into the center of the ring Hart was a beaten man. Hanra-han held the advantage of Hart in weight and seemed to outclass his opponent at every point. Tim Hurst was referee. The knockout last night was the first defeat

THE PHILIPPINE TARIFF.

At 5 P. M. Yesterday the House Adjourned Until Today.

When The Star's report of the debate on the Philippine tariff bill closed in the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio had the floor. Mr. Grosvenor said that he might have wished that January 10 (the date of the democratic caucus) had passed before the debate upon this bill began, in order that the exact position of the democratic party might be known. Mr. Grosvenor reverted to the fact the republican administration had tried to avoid the war with Spain. "At that time," said he, "the same thoughtless cry of liberty rang through this hall. I believe if it had not been for the explosion of the Maine therewould not have been any war, but that all the results which have followed would have been worked out, except the acquisition of the Philippines. I wish the opposition would stand with us as loyally in bearing the burden of that war as they were in driving us into it!" (Applause).

Mr. Grosvenor recalled the storm of criticism against a similar bill for the benefit of Porto Rico. But it had passed and money had been made available. Mr. Gros-venor described the beneficent results of the bill in the Island of Porto Rico. Turning to the question of reciprocity

Mr. Grosvenor declared that the republican party was practically solid as to what should be done. Those who were yelling for tariff revision, he said, were about as numerous for the amount of noise they made as was the coyote which disturbed Grant's slumber on the western rains. "Has the gentleman forget the speech of the late Presiden: .cKinley? asked Mr. Thayer (Mass.).

asked Mr. Thayer (Mass.).
"I have not," answered Mr. Grosvenor.
"I wish the gentleman would take that speech and read it and act upon it. If he does he will rise in my estimation 90-odd per cent."

Referring to the provision in the bill relaive to the suspension of the coastwise navigation laws on vessels plying between the United States and the Philippines, Mr. Gresvenor said the provision was necessary because of the congested trade in the Pa-cific. "Since this bills was reported, however," said he, "I learn that possibly we were in error as to our facts and that the coastwise vessels may soon be able to come to the rescue. If that proves true the provision can be stricken out in the Senate." Speaking of the Taft commission he was saying that one of the members of that commission was a distinguished Tennessee democrat, when Mr. Pearce (Tenn.) interrupted to say that in the campaign of 1900 Luke E. Wright, to whom Mr. Grosvenor had referred, had voted the straight republican ticket.

"That comes," observed Mr. Grosvenor, amid applause, "from associating with great men in great enterprises. I will venture to predict that in 1904 the old democratic party, purged of populism and the free silver heresy, badly battered, but still in the ring, will come forward under the guidance and control of men who stood where Luke Wright stood a year and a half ago."

Mr. Shafroth (Col.), who has recently returned from the Philippines, vigorously opposed the bill. He declared that there were and it will be sent out within the next few days.

The letter will be in the nature of a warning to the men to make the union a still stronger organization and put it in a better position to cope with the changes in beautiful and the still be an evertain to materialize gers must fail in many respects. Mr. Shaferoth went over a list of the salaries paid to the American officials in the Philippines to show the interests of the poor natives who

Mr. Shafroth declared that the spirit of independence and liberty lived in the Fili-pino as well as the American, and that until the Filipinos were free the situation could not be satisfactory either to them or

Mr. De Armond (Mo.), who also has recently returned from the Philippines, was the next speaker, and aroused much enthusiasm on the democratic side by a denunciaion of the pending measure and the entire Philippine policy of the administration. He declared that the bill proposed legislating after the manner of the empire. It disregarded the rights of the Filipino as well as the American representative. It was legislation by the War Department, legislation by alien for alien. He denied the necessity of taking the islands or of keeping them.

(Democratic applause.)
"We acquired them in folly," said he,
"let us dispose of them in wisdom. Almost every man in the islands longs for independence and liberty. How long will it be before another insurrection breaks out Who can tell how many of our youths it will lay away in country church yards—how many dollars of extra levy it will cost the people? How much better would it be for us to return to the principles of any American party and make an end of our troubles Why not dispose of them to some country that wants colonies? Any disposition of them is better than their retention."
Mr. Patterson (Tenn.) opposed the bill in a brief speech. Mr. Robertson (La.), a member of the ways and means committee, said he would vote for the bill. The failure of this bill, he said, would in effect mean free trade with the islands and he was opposed to bring-ing the sugar and rice planters of Louisiana into free competition with the sugar and rice producers of the Philippines. This bill would be a notice to the Filipino people that they could never hope for equal rights with the American citizen and must prepare for independence. He said he beleved that free trade with the Philippines and reciprocity with Cuba, which was now threatened, would annihilate the sugar interests of his state. At the conclusion of Mr. Robertson's remarks the committee rose and the
